LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nev. 6.—Enough information has been received to-day to establish the fact of Democratic success in three out of the five Congressional districts in this State, as follows: Third, I. Breckenridge and Langley in the Second were both well supported. It cannot be determined which ones are elected until every precinct has been heard from. Featherstone and Cate in the First District aisor ran close. But the general opinion among party leaders seems to be that of the two Union Labor candidates Featherstone's chances of success are much better than Langley's.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The morning papers' estimates of the complexion of the next House vary considerably. The Times estimates the majority of the Democrats at 181; the Herald makes 121; the World, 141; the Sun, 151, and the Tribune, 60.

THE SPRAKERSHIP.

New York, Nov. 6.—The Sun's Washington special says: Now that is beyond question that the Democrats will have control of the next Heuse of Representatives speculation is being indulged in with research to the speakership. Mr. Springer of Illinois and Mr. Crisp of Georgia are among the meat prominent of those whose names are mentioned for the honor. Mr. Mills of Texas is credited with no ambition for the office and has frequently stated he would prefer to be known merely as the leader of the House and chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means. Mr. Bynum of Indians, Mr. Modillin of Teanessee and Mr. Outhwalte of Ohio have also been named for the office. Mr. Wilson of West Virginia; regarded on all sides as one of the brainlest in the House, would undoubtedly make an admirable Speaker. The most interesting piece of gossip, which was much discussed last night, points to Dan Lockwood, the newly chosen member from Buffale, N. T., as the next Speaker. It is urged in behalf of this leave candidate—if such he may be called, then the idea has parkaps not yet occurred and the Democrate is the next House to choose as Contederate for their Speaker. Besides; the South, in the person of Mr. Carliule, has had the office for the last three Congresses, and it is time that some other section should have the honor. That section, it is urged should be the North and of all States in the North is the one which it is the most desirable to save in 1892. To make any man speaker of the House would contribute largely to this end.

THE HOUSE CLERKSHIP.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 6.—The election results caused a look of disappeniament to pervade the quarters of the Republicans here and the Missourians who are holding positions as part of the admissistration are cast-down. On the other hand the Missouri Democratis are jubliant over the general result and especially so over the election of a Democratic delegation from St. Louis to the next Congress. No man has more friends in and about the Capital than John J. O'Neili and sil of them join in a good word for him. The result brings out Gen. John B. Clark, Jr., again for Clerk of the House and Col. Thomas C. Towles, probherin-law to Senator Ceckerell, who has acted as Secretary to the National Congressional Committee would like the same position. He has gradually put himself in higher places in and about the Capitol, and is said now wants to be clerk. Gen. Clark will undoubtedly get the support of the Democrats who have known him is the past, and as his several administrations were clean will have a good start for what he asks. Candidates for the many offices of the House are already announced. Aunon them Cel. Sam Donalson for Doorkeeper, is said to be an aspirant.

Additional Returns.

KENTUCKY. LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 6.—Congressman John H. Wilson (Rep.) has carried the Elevin the Tenth District give J.W. Kendall (Dem.) 24 majority. Toledo, O., Nov. 6.—A Canton, O. special to the Blade says that the lack of telegraph facilities in Holmes county prevents an exact ascertaining of the vote in McKinley's district. Stark County gives McKinley 700 majority and Medina 1,400; Wayne gives warwick 300 majority and the latest advices from Holmes give him 1,900. McKinley concedes Warwick's election by about 300 and this will be verified unless the vote of the precingts in Holmes which are estimated show unexpected gains for McKinley.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 .- Henry M, Stanley and wife and Lieut. Jephsen arrived last night by the steamer Teutonic. They had a rough a letter to Barttelot, foolishly enough for Troup in his desire to do Barttelot fair play, but it did only good for Mr. Stanley.

"Upon my return from Albert Nyanza in search of the rear column, a distance of 800 miles," said Mr. Stanley, "I got reports at Banyala of the condition of the rear column, which I had left at I ambuya. I had grown apprehensive as to its safety and had traveled back the 800 miles to learn something of the splendidly equipped guard that thad left behind in charge of Maj. Barttelot, with four other officers. I heard that the rear column was in an awful condition and when I reached Yambuya I found the reports confirmed, the camp was in a demoralized state; column was in an awful condition and when I reached Yambuya I found the reports confined, the camp was in a demoralized state; many of the men were dead and of all the officers only Bonney was left. I was horrised at this state of affairs and wrote at once to the Emin Relief Committee an account of what I had found at Yambuya. I told them that the rear column was wrecked by the irresolution of its officers, the neglect of their premises and their indifference to the interests of the expedition.

All the taik[that has recently been made was called forth by the remarks in that letter.

When I returned to Europe, of course there was an attempt made to get me to modify my charges. But Troup, in the meantime, has book, and an injunction had been obtained by Sir Francis Winton, Secretary of the Emin Relief Committee to prevent its circulation. In Troup's first book there was a wholeshie condemnation of Barttelots, but alines the injunction he has had time to alter the first parts and the last part of that book on account of the censure I had made on the rear guard. When got to Zanzibar one of the first things I found it needed vindication of himself. I never answered that letter because I needed a personal interview, as there were many questions I found it necessary to ask him myself, evering points which were not touched upon in the letter, the principal question had been dead on the rear guard. There will be a big Democratic glorification meeting Saturday evening next in the Exposi-tion Music Hall and arrangements are now under way to make it an affair to be long remembered. The State and city committees are working in unison on the arrangements and expect to make it a genuine jubilee. They expect to have Senators Vest and Cockrell, Gov. Francis, John M. Palmer of Illinois and the Fourteen Democratic Con-gressman elected in Missouri present as the speakers and there will be an abundance of

R. W. Goode, representing the Democratic Oity Committee, called at the State headquarters this morning and readily enlisted the co-operation of Chairman J. H. Carroll of the Executive Committee and ther members in the movement to hold the glorification demonstration.

REASONS FOR CELEBRATING. Mr. Carrell, speaking of the meeting, said: everywhere, even in the Republican strongholds. It is eminently proper that we should ings over our glorious victory. The Demo-crats have so much to say that we must hire a hall to say that we must hire a hall to say it, and I am in for the celebration. We will invite our United States Senators, Governor, Congressmen and other leading Democrats to speak, and I hope to see Gen. Falmer with us. We Democrats in Missouri have every reason to feel proud. Our state ticket is carried by an immense majority, we have the fourteen Congressmen, and the next Legislature will be Democratic by over 85 majority. This shows that Missouri is stonger in her Democracy than ever. By all means let us have a jubilee, and I feel that we can display more enthusiasm than the Republicans exhibited after the election of Harrison."

At the City Hall the result of the local elec tion overshadowed all other topics this morning and politics had the call even more than usual in that central strenghold. Mayor Noonan arrived at his office shortly after II e clock and for an hour was closeted with City Counselor Bell, President Burnet of the Board of Pablic Improvements, Harbor Commissioner Murphy and others. Coroner-elect Irwin called while the consultation was being held, but left without seeing His Honer. To a POST-DISPATCH reporter Mayor Neonan discussed the local victory very fully. "I attribute the result of Tuesday's election to several good causes. The revision of the registration lists brought the vote down to an honest basis. It was impossible to repeat, and only bona fide votes counted. The Australian System made scratching a little more difficult, and so the great preponderance of vetes cast were for the straight tloket of either party. The fairness of Supervisor Smith is his appointments also helped the casting of a full and fair vote, and the bright weather and general observance of the holiday were other important factors. ing and politics had the call even more than ments also nespect the tears of the fair vote, and the bright weather and general observance of the holiday were other important factors.

I consider that the vote was a test of the relative Republican and Democratic strength in St. Louis, and I say that St. Leuis is to-day unquestionably a Democratic city by between 1,000 and 1,500 majority. The majorities are larger in yesterday's showing, but I make allowance for that disaffected Republican vote cast in protest against boss rule in that party in St. Louis. The Democratic city ticket had a great advantage in this respect, for, while it was not altogether free frem such influences, there was less of boss rule or ring influence in the present city ticket than ever in my recollection since I have taken any interest in politics. The Mo-Kinley bill of course had its effect on the local vete, but it was in the main a vote of Democrate against Republicans, conducted on the fairest basis ever known in St. Louis. The Australian system worked smoothly and satisfactorily. I studied it in wards where both intelligent and unseducated veters lived, and I saw no evidence that any votes were lost through inability te grasp the new system. "Tuesday's results and the successful adoption of the Australian ballot means that hereafter both parties have to put up their best men, that the days of the 'boss' has passed and that money will not out the figure in politics in the future that it has herefore. As for the contest in St. Louis best spring, I am sure that with good men on the ticket, as good as those who were elected yesterday, the Democratic party is certain of victory. Everything depends upon the men nominated, however, for a strong Republican ticket will threaten that average 1,000 Democratic majority.

"I am not surprised at O'Neill's victory in the figure in the figure in the figure and the vote shows that ticket will threaten that average 1,000 Democratic majority.

"I am not surprised at O'Neill's victory in the Eighth District, and the vote shows that the Democrate of shat district supported him. While at one time in the preliminary contest I believed that both O'Neill and O'Mailey should withdraw, I changed my opinion after learning of the agreement signed by O'Mailey, and with O'Neill as the candidate I saw the necessity of his election.

"Right here I want to say that whatever may have been charged during the campaign, the city administration kept its hands offfrom first to last. The administration took no part for or against any candidate, and its refusal to mingle in the contest was because I thought it politically expedient not to interfere. I demots any there are not occasions when the administration would take a hand, but I do say moss emphatically that it did not do so this time."

TWO CAUSES.

Secretary Charles Schweickards of the Ninth District Republican Congressional Committees aid this morning that Prosser's defeat was due to two causes. Commissioner of Supplies Rewland gave all the credit of the victory to the effects of the passage of the McKinley bill. Sewer Commissioner McKinley bill. Sewer Commissio district, and the Republicans showed their disapproval of the measure by scratching Mr. Wade. Then there was some disaffection in the Republican ranks on account of the Federal patronage, and this cut a big figure. The popularity of Judge Fyan and his splendid campaign had considerable to do with it also. It was a hard fight, and I think we deserved our glorious victory."

Committeeman Delaney was congratulated on all sides by the committeemen and other Democrats present for his excellent work in the management of Judge Fyan's campaign.

The one break is the success of the entire local Democratic ticket, the defeat of Smith by Hobbs for Recorder of Deeds, was commissioner mented on pleasantly, Mayor Noonan exting that Hobbs great personal popularity among all classes made him one of the strongest candidates the Republicans could have had. Recorder Williams was especially pleased with Hobbs victory.

Chas, F. Joy: "What defeated me? Well, that question is easily answered. I was beaten by votes. There was a scarcity of ballots for the Republican eand idate up in the Eighth district and the result is the election of my poponent. I was short on votes and that is just what beat me. But I am not prostrate over my failure to go to Congress. I am back in my office to make my campaign, and really this was too short. It did not afford sufficient their was a was too short. At 1:55 o'clock the fire was discovered and a general alarm sent in. The fire tug was the first to arrive and soon had as fective stream playing upon the flames, but it was up-hill work, as the flames, fanned by a stiff southwest wind, had made rapid progress. The marine tower was all ablaze and it was so high that the streams could not reach it. When the steamers arrived the fire had spread to the entire building, and at 2:10 a. m. penetrate passed the whole roof. The building was doomed, and the firemen turned their atten tion to saving the adjoining property. . The Wells by a small alley, and was in great dan centrated efforts of the firemen prevented the flames from making any headway. Meanwhile, furiously. Huge sheets of flames leaped from the structure, lighting the vicinity for block around. Opposite the elevator on Ohlo street stood a number of buildings used for saloons, cheap bearding-houses and tene ments. These structures were in danger and the firemen were obliged to deluge them with shipping in the river was also in great danger but was pulled away to places of safety turned their attention to this new danger and kept the roofs of these structures well west down.

The elevator was covered with corrugated iron, and this metal in the flerce heat peeled off in huge sheets and fell all around the firemen. They had many narrow escapes. At 2:55 o'clock a cleud of burning grain shot up into the air and settled on the houses on the north side of Ohio street. The firemen turned their attention te this new danger and kept the roofs of these structures well wes down.

At 3 o'clock the iron sides of the elevator began to glow like a furnace and here and there were gaping holes showing red-hot grain inside. Three Laokawanna cars drawnup on the Ohlo street tracks caught fire, but burned slowly. Ritter's boiler-shop, a large frame building on Mississippl street, took fire from the sparks, but was quickly extinguished. The roof of every building in the neighborhood was covered at different times with hot coals, and even the sidewalks were hissing and steaming. A great deal of damage was done to the surreunding property by the immense volume of water that is was necessary to pour ento them to keep them from going up in smoke. The cause of the fire is a matter of speculation. It is said to have been caused by an explosion in the northern part of the building. The Wells elevator was located at Ohlo and Indiana streets. It was owned by the ostate of the late Chandler J. Wells. It had storage capacity for $50,000 bushels of grain, and was valued at $30,000 and was issured for about $30,000. It is not shown yet how much grain was in store there, but it was somewhere about $20,000. It is shought corn, worth about $10,000. The American Gincose Co. had about $40,000 bushels, mostly corn, worth about $10,000. It is thought considerable of the grain will be recovered slightly damaged. A fireman was thrown from a truck and injured about the head, but not seriously. A late estimate of the loss places is at about hair a million. The elevator is said to have seen valued at $300,000 and the contents at 225,000.

MR. PROSSER has probably stricken that touching song, "You've Been a Friend to Me," out of his repertoire.

THE rebuke of bossism, national and local, is the most significant and gratifying feature of the recent elections.

THE Reed collar was a badge of slavery offensive to the people and fatal to a majority of the Congressmen who wore it.

THE case of Speaker REED demonstrates how easily a man who thinks he owns the ridiculous.

THE attempt to establish the reign of plutocracy in this country by REED's revolutionary processes has been overwhelmingly defeated,

It is safe to say that the next Grandjury will be regularly summoned, and rule at the expense of honest and faithful that no bogus Grand-jury man will be permitted to sneak in.

result speaks for itself.

THE Democrats made some mighty in teresting news Tuesday, and as usual the POST-DISPATCH was the first newspaper to give it to the people of St. Louis.

TUESDAY's election returns ought to make PRESTON B. PLUMB the accepted leader of the Republicans in Washington and their nominee for President in 1892.

WHILE it is well to rejoice that St. Louis has elected three Democratic Congress- nized as the coming Bismarck of his party men it is well also to bear in mind that they succeeded only against the weakest and most unpopular of nominees.

THE Democratic majority in the next Congress will not execute the villainy REED has taught. In the first place the country does not like it and in the second place the majority is too big to need it.

THE attempt of the honest members of the last Grand-jury to punish open and notorious violations of the lottery law has been thwarted, but we confidently look to the next Grand-jury to push the good

MR. CARNEGIE cannot see that the Mo-Kinley bill had anything to do with the Republican defeat, but can see in it success for the party in 1892. Mr. CARNEGIE's on is remarkable enough to be classed as a freak of nature.

BLAINE spoke for McKinley in Ohio and for DELAMATER in Pennsylvania. But before that he had taken care to smite the McKinley bill under the fifth rib and to shed out its bowels to the ground, where they still lie weltering and growing more offensive every day.

THE President, the Attorney-General and their grand army of Indiana officeolders went home and voted in imposing and impressive array. But Indiana expressed her opinion of their work by changing her Republican majority of 2,300 in 1888 to a Democratic majority of over

A BUBLESQUE BOSS.

The pitifulest spectacle in the United States to-day is presented by Speaker REED. "What a fall is there!"

A few days ago he posed as the Napoleen of American politics. What airs of greatness he assumed! How he plumed, puffed, blustered and bragged! With who presumed to question his authority as the first man of his country, the leader of the people, the maker of public opinion and the born dictator of his party. elections. Every word, gesture, act, was eloquent of superiority to all considerations which restrain men of common mold. He was "the people," the "I am" of Republicanism. He railed at popular rights and laughed warning and protestation to

The inevitable end of such folly has come quickly in his case. The poor fool who imagines himself an Emperor and bedecks his empty head with a tin crown and his rags with tinsel and bits of tawdry ribbon, is not more ridiculous than the self-constituted boss of the House of Representatives. In the bright light of publie opinion his pretentious wisdom is false. his wit is chaff, and his gorgeous robes of supreme authority are fustian. In the little group of humble Republicans who, spared from the wrath of the people, are permitted to return to Congress there is none so low as not to be able to look down upon "Boss" REED, none so contemptible as not to have contempt for him and none so ridiculous as not to find food for laughter in his predicament. But he is an object of pity to friends and enemies. It would have been better for him if the recent political cyclone could have swept him out of public life and kindly oblivion had covered his folly and his faults.

The only piece of wisdom poor REED has fallen upon of late is his resolution not to talk about the result of the election. Like a boy caught at a naughty and the Post-Disparch was equal to the trick and spanked he has nothing to say, but he must think lots.

> WHEN CONGRESS MEETS. It is well known that the vote by which the McKinley bill passed was a forced vote in both houses of Congress. Many of the Republicans who east that vote admitted that it was not dictated either by their own honest opinions or by the interest of their constituents, but by a supposed party interest and the authority of the party caucus. Even so distinguished a Republican as Senator Ingalls, the President pro tem. of the Senate, did not dare to ask the Kansas majority of 82,000 country can drop from the sublime to the Republicans to indorse the measure, but claimed a re-election on the ground that he had waived his objections to the bill in deference to the party, and that Kansas should do the same and accept it as a party measure.

The result ought to teach statesmen and politicians that such submission to caucus representation, is not good for a party and is prompted by a false view of genuine party loyalty. If a dozen Republican SPEAKER REED delivered campaign Senators who protested and voted against speeches in Pennsylvania, in Iowa, in the principal features of the McKinley McKinley's and Cannon's districts. The bill had stood with the three who voted been defeated and the overwhelming defeat of the party in the November elections might have been avoided.

The unprecented "one-man power" of the Speaker and the slavish discipline entorced by his party caucus and submitted to by all but three Republican members of the House, were but recently praised by extreme and shallow partisans as the achievements of a new and invincible leadership, and Speaker REED was recogand of American politics. But his triumphs were not in harmony with American methods, precedents and traditions, and a crushing rebuke from the people awaited them. His greatness is now at a tremendous discount and the spell of his authority is broken.

The effect of all this on Congress when it meets in December will be manifest and it ought to have a wholesome influence on

The Senate is not her distinguished husband in America. beyond the reach of tidal waves, and Republican Senators cannot all be insensible to a popular opposition which puts a Democratic majority of 130 in the House. There are a dozen or more Republican Senators at heart opposed to the plutocratic policy forced on their party by its basses, and the unexpected apparition of Democratic Senators from New York, New Hampshire, Wisconsin and Illinois, and the prospect that more will speedily follow from other States hitherto electing Republicans only, will greatly help PLUMB in his effort to reform the policy of his party. THE POST-DISPATCH extras yesterday fully met the popular demand for election news. All day a large crowd stood in front of the office reading the bulletins, and conies of the morning extra, which gave the first reliable confirmation of the preat Democratic victory, were easerly cought. The evening extra, issued at 6 oblook, supplemented the full reports of the regular edition with all the information available up to that time, and the ground was covered so thoroughly that scarcely anything of importance could be added to it by the morning papers. The terprise, on the part of the public, was shown by the avidity with which copies of the extra were taken on the streets.

THE Australian ballot system worked well wherever it was applied in the November elections—in Massachusetts as well as in Missouri. It should be extended to the rural districts in this State, so as to include the large mining and manufacturwhat fine contempt he viewed the men ing establishments outside of the cities. It is an excellent safeguard against bribery and undue influence-against the control of bossism and plutocracy over

When a tidal wave of popular opposition wipes out big majorities of thirty years' standing in all the stanchest Republican strongholds of the North, the party cannot hold the South or anybody but Republican leaders responsible for such a defeat. Quincy Salesman Comes to St. Louis and Disappears, Mr. Edward M. Read of Estev & Camp has been busy for the last two days looking for H. C. Veutsch, a Quiney (Ill.) salesman, who was last heard of in St. Louis, Yesterday morning he received a letter from A. H. Whitney & Co. of Quincy, asking if he had seen anything of their salesman, Veutsch. They wrote that he was in St. Louis about two weeks ago and they heard from him then but he had disappeared and sines then they had not been able to get any trace of him. The asked particularly about his mental condition and seemed to fear that his mind had been deranged, for they could not account in any other way for his failure to write to them. Mr. Read did not know Veutsch and had not seen him but he started out to see if he could get any trace of him. He visited all the musical instrument stores in the city and made careful inquiries about Veutsch, but he was unable to hear of him anywhere. Mr. Read said to-day, "It is possible that he was in the store during Fair week for it seems that it was fhen he was in the city, but so many people came in during Fair week that we cannot remember any of them. the State Treasurer.

Following the withdrawal of the old Citizens' Committee from its position as the financial fount from which the local militia drew the funds for its support, the new moveattend two and often three limes. Each attendance counted a day, and the witnesse put in his bill for an equal number of dollars. It can be safely asserted that more than one half of the witnesses attended the Grand-jury in quisition more than onee. The amounts in the separate cases make a total of almost 500. The cost of a second attendance is one dollar for each witness. This amounts to about 300. In addition to this there are the fees of the Grand Jurors. Each juror receives $1.50 per day. The members were in session nine days after the partial report was returned. A footing of more than $150 is thus obtained. This gives an estimated grand total of $50, the gives an estimated for each subcusting the militia organization in St. Louis alive until the State Legislature should have an opportunity of acting upon the militia appropriation bill. It was learned to clear militia appropriation of the city, who pays the expenses of the State? The people, who are entitled to know how these affairs are handled.

May May May a connected with the Charles Parsons, President of the State Bank, and that the gentlemen interested with him were a group of merchants and financiers whose collectment in the work was practically a guarantee of its augusts. This success, temporary at least, has already been attained, as was learned by the POST-DISPATCH

TO SECURE AN APPROPRIATION.

Beginning under the necessity of immediately raising funds enough to prevent the dissolution of the First Regiment, this object was accountilished in a few days. Mr. Nat G. Pierce, Secretary of the Samuel Cupples Woodenware Co., was made Treasurer for the fund to be raised, and a brief, fund to be raised, and a brief, but accedingly vigorous, canwas was made among the merchants of the city by Mr. Parsons and the gentlemen working with him. The necessary wonsy was subscribed, but with the accomplishment of this immediate object the movement is said to have branched out along lines that will be found of more practical significance than any

A MEXIMG OF STATE OFFICERS.

At the time of the threatened dishandment of the First Hagiment, Col. Comfort stated that he had private reasons for believing that the militia appropriation bill would be passed by the Legislature meeting in January, 1891. Whether the merchants who have come to the assistance of the local inflitia in the present trouble know what Col. Comfort's confidence is based upon or not was not learned, but they appear unusually hopeful that the State will at last recognize its duties in the premises. Adjutant-General Wickham arrives from Jederson Gity to-morrow moraing, and has ordered a meeting of all staff and line officers of the First Regiment at the Armory for to-merrow night for the purpose of conterring with him upon the situation, and it is probable that the work of the merchants and haukers headed by Mr. Parsons will be the leading feature of the onaference, next to the Adjutant-General's views upon the probability of State support for the future.

END OF A NOTED CASE.

JUDGE THAYER WINDS UP THE KEUSCHER INSUBANCE PROCEEDING.

in Action Which Grew Out of the Cole-brated Fraudulent Insurance Case of Charles Ziefle-Miss Annie Francis Laws Discharged-The Federal Grand-Jury

Judge Thayer this morning put the finishing touches on the case of Mary Keuscher vs. ing touches on the case of Mary Keuscher vs. the International Progressive Association. This case on trial resulted is judgment for the defendant, and new a motion for a new trial is overruled. This case grew out of the celebrated fraudulent insurance case of Charles Zieffe. The latter was a barber who died several years ago of consumption. He had before the fatal disease was developed made the acquaintance of Robert Terry, a carpet-layer who was prominent in sundry secret societies. Terry prominent in sundry secret societies. Terry nitiated a man into the United States Benev plent Fraternity under the name of Charles Zeifie when the latter was dying in the City Hospital, and Dr. John Whittaker, the examining physician of the order, certified that Ziefie was wonderfully healthy and possessed of a wonderfully good medical histo fore Ziefle was quite dead Terry and Whitaker moved him to the residence of haggle Gold-berg. He died there, and his body was amuggied by alley ways to the residence of August Keuscher. A wig had been put on the dead man's head, and his face had been painted to make it look semething like the face of a man who had been previously very healthy and had died suddenly. Maggie Goldberg personated the sister of Ziefle, who and on the fraudulent initiation of the are ended Ziefle. A real sister of Ziefle was kept and on the fraudulent initiation of the pretended Ziefle. A real sister of Ziefle was kent in jusprance of her brother's death, and when she jearned of it it also happened that she got a hint of the insurance conspiracy. She could not be kept quiet and the result was the criminal prosecution of Terry and his conviction in the Criminal Court.

Terry had secured the initiation of Keuscher by similar means in various benevolent orders, smean them the International Progressive Association. He died suddenly and his widow claimed the lineurance money. Fart was paid her and then the plot was disclosed.
She was refused the balance and such for it.
The Order proved that Keuscher was not a member and the story is indicated in Judge Thayer's ruling on the motion for a new trial printed below:

JUDGE THAYER'S OPINION.

"The material inditings of fact on which the indument depends were: 1. That Perry signed Keuscher's application for membership in the association without his knowledge or consent and therein directed the benefit certificate to be made out in favor of Maggie Goldberg, faisely representing her to be Keuscher's sister. 2. That his purpose in so doing was to speculate on the duration of Keuscher's life, and that he probably had one or more confederates in the scheme. 3. That Terry subsequently became alarmed by developments uniavorable to himself in the Ziefle case and thereupon caused the name of Mrs. Keuscher to be inserted in the piace of that of Maggie Goldberg to allay auspicion if there was an investigation of the transaction; (4) that the association was kanorant of the fraud until some time after Keuscher's depth, and until after it had made a partial payment on the certificate; and (5) that Keuscher prior to his death became acquainted with the facts attending his admission to membership and ettempted to ratify what had been done in his name without communicating the facts to the association. From this state of facts the court concluded that Keuscher never became a member of the asso

Kenscher never became a member of the association and that his widow was not entitled to the increasing widow with the sensities.

VERY REMARKABLE.

VICTOR REMARKABLE Mrs. Keuseher has suits pending in the St.
Louis Circuit Court against other benevolent orders that Terry insured a pretended Keuscher in, that will probably go the way of this ease. Terry's conspiracies have furnished three courts in St. Louis with much work since Charles Ziefle's death.

Think not, when summer fades away,
And brightest scenes grow dull,
That life is neither glad nor gay.
Still thrives the beautiful,

But garnered shining in the mint Makes glad the farmer still.

The flowers that gayly bloomed above
The green and dewy sarth,
Transplanted, turn to buds of love
Beside the bomelike hearth,
And all the harys to of the year,
In this our glorious clime,
Luss piled before us waiting here
For this Thankegiving time.

Thrice blest is he who has a home. In which to offer praise.
And sad the allen who must ream. Throughout 'hanksgiving days;

Crowded Houses at Every Perform

Mewiand's College of Midwilers LYING-IN INSTITUTE

Some say that character is simply the sum total of habits, so remember that every act is building the structure that people call "you,"

How do you suppose this great house, five floors covering nearly five acres all told, ever came to be known throughout the length and breadth of the land as "the great bargain house of America?" Why, because it builded itself up with "bargains." Whenever you see a Barr "ad" you know there's a bargain not

For Friday and Saturday it's specially in children's reefer coats, long cloaks and boys' school suits and overcoats. Also, children's hosfery and school shoes. Barr's make a specialty in children's goods and would particularly call attention to the great variety of styles in girls' reefer coats.

Barr's Fancy Work. Here's an easily made and very pretty Christ-mas gift for anybody—a photograph holder. First comes the frame, which, if you possess considerable ingenuity, you can make out of stiff pasteboard, if not we will furnish it at 75 cents. It may be covered with a variety of materials, but the most fashionable is cream kid of chamois skin—each skin costs $1.50, but will make a number of pretty articles—paint in any pretty flower design, or if silk is used place on several ribbon bows; the covering is held with paste; finish with ribbon, as shown in out. Our next design will be an easily made lamp shade.

Barr's dress fabric sale continues to draw the crowds like -, well, as only a special Barr announcement can draw 'em. For the next two days we will offer in flannel department an odd assortment of checks and stripes in light and dark flannelette for children's school dresses at 81 cents a yard.

We want everybody to see our elegant selection of art screens, fret-work over-mantels, etc., and as an inducement to all the town to come we'll sell handson antique oak one-panel screens with brass tips for $1.25

Don't fail to see our new art portieres and curtains in oriental stripes-you'll say they're the handsomest you ever looked at.

Now a word in the way of a shoe bargain:

Two-fifty button boots for $1.85 a pair. The shoes are all-right. Your feet may not fit 'em, but if they do you get a grand bargain.

I have known several of your people, earning but $15 a week at wealthy within a very few years. You see, living is cheap and laborers receive but 37 cents per day. NEW YORK, Nov. 6 .- Mr. Depew was seen y a reporter last night and asked what he hought of the Democratic tidal wave. "It is the McKinley law," said Mr. Depew the legitimate result of the ing into operation only thirty days before lection-effects which ought to have been foreseen. I am not surprised that we are to have cratic House of Representatives some weeks ago I made up my mind that the Democrats would carry the Lower House of Congress, though I did not expect so great a majority as this. I'll tell you what made me think so. It was the way the McKinley bill was being made use of. All over the country prices have been going up or going to go up ecause of the McKinley bill and generally on articles which were not affected by that measure. Some friends of mine went to New York to buy a plano and the man told them they had better buy at once as planos were going to increase $100 in price because of the McKinley bill, although as a matter of fact planes were not in the new tariff. In other words, tradesmen of all kinds, Republicans as well as Demecrats, have made the McKinley bill an excuse for advancing their prices people will not stand these higher prices. that passed the bill. The farmers have heard from. They come into thei country towns to buy something and are told by the storekeeper that the McKinley tariff is raising the price of everything and that they

THEY DON'T LIKE IT. These are the illegitimate results of the Mc-Kinley tariff. It has hardly got into operation yet, and its good effects not be felt for some time do ple are now pr ing it will, and I think it will stimulate industry and two years hence will reverse the ecision of yesterday, for it is clear that the idea of protection is deeply rooted and grow ing in this country. A great deal of the tidal afford to sacrifice home interests to please the | wave of Democracy is the result of the disap ointment of office-seekers. This was the first general election since President Harrison went in. With 100,000 offices to dis pose of there were 500,000 office PARIS, Nov. 6.—The French Government has taken up the matter of the application of electricity to naval uses, and will institute a series of lectures on the subject for the benefit of naval officers. "Speiling for a Fight."

LONDON, Nov. 6.—It is announced that the lately formed Shipping Industries Federation now comprises 100 unions, with a total membership of 600,000. It is also declared, probably by way of warning to the disaffected dockers, that the Federation is in excellent financial and disciplinarian condition, in fact, "speiling for a fight."

Many of these enterprising gentiemen had a knile up their sleeve and yesterday they let the administration feel it. The Republicans, however, while will not sacrifice the Presidency and there will be no such danger to be feared two years hence. The fraudulent use which had been made of the McKinley ariff will be discovered and pusished and its beneficial effects will begin to be felt throughout the land in 1892."

"Do you not think that the election was a condemnat

"What was the matter in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts?"

PENNSTVANIA AND MASSACHUSETTS.

"The Democratic victory in Pennsylvania," said Mr. Depew, "records a condemnation of machine politics. In politics a machine goes along all right for a certain time, until it gets to be a close corporation or insolent, when it loses public sympathy and is sat down upon. As to Massachusetts, the cause of the Democratic victory is very different. Massachusetts has been getting more and more Democratic for twenty years past and steadily drifting away from its old Republican anchorage. The Yankee boys have been leaving their farms and going West and immigrants have been taking their places. The complexion of Massachusetts is very different now from what it was twenty years ago, not because people have changed their minds or politics but because they have changed their residence. The Massachusetts vote is now scattered all over the West. The foreign vote in Massachusetts, which has been increasing se encormously of late years, is almost altogether Democratic."

"And how is Mr. Blaine affected as to 1892?"

"If at all Mr. Blaine affected as to 1892?"

"If at all Mr. Blaine affected as to 1892?"

"If at all Mr. Blaine affected as a result of this election, but time will show best."

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 6.—Both the Democrats and Republicans are still claiming the Legisla and Republicans are still claiming the Legislature. The Republicans have an advantage in the hold-over Senators, the majority of them being Republican. The State Republican Committee insist that the Republicans will have a majority of five or six on the joint ballot. The Democrats will concede nething, but, on the contrary, still claim that Paimer will succeed Senator Farwell. The House will be very close, with the chances in favor of the Democrats.

The Tribune (Rep.) finds the result in the State Legislature to be as follows: Senate-Republicans, 75; Democrats, 94; House-Republicans, 75; Democrats, 95; F. M. B. A., 2; Joint Assembly-Republicans, 102; Democrats, 100; F. M. B. A., 2. The Democratic State Central Committee says that the Legislature on joint assembly will stand 101 Republicans, 101 Democrats and 2 Farmers' Alliance Republicans. One of the Alliance mea, Moore of the Forty-fourth District, has said that he will affiliate with the Democrats on all party measures, but will not vots for Gen. Palmer for United States Senator. The Democrats hope to gain another Representative in Hardin County, where the returns are yet incomplete. This would give Gen. Palmer a majority of 1 on joint ballet.

BENTON, Ill., Nov. 6.—Complete returns in this, Franklin County, show slight Democratic gains. Farris, Democratic candidate for Senator in the Ffity-first District, will have nearly 200 majority in the county, and may be elected. One Democratic member of the Legislature is sure.

of Rose, Republican. Unless official returns make further changes in the list the Assembly will stand sixty-eight Democrats to sixty Republicans, and the Democrate will have a majority on joint ballot in the Legislature.

DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY ON JOINT BALLOT. The Associated Press reports show the election of gixty-eight Democratic Assemblymen in New York State and sixty Republicans. As the Democrats have thirteen Senators against nineteen Republicans, the former will thus have on joint ballot eigty-one votes against the latter seventy-nine, which insures the election of a Democratic successor to Senator Evarts. Moreover, the Democrate claim that two Assembly Districts eredited to the Republicans, namely Dutchess County and Montgomery County, belong to them.

Farmers Short Victory.

WASHINGTON D. C., Nov. 6 .- Secretary D. claims emphatically that the results of Tues day's election show a great victory for the day's election show a great vectory for the farmers' movement. He designates the tidal wave that swept over the Republican party as the tangible showing of the good effects of organized effort against boss rule, and a rebuke to the party that departed from coinage of silver and framed a tariff law which bore more heavily upon the poor than upon the rich. Secretary Rittenhouse claims that in the Eastern States and expecially in Masachhaetts and New Hampnouse claims that in the Eastern States and especially in Massachusetts and New Hampshire, the farmers and laborers' strength was thus shown. In Pennsylvania he asserts that it was the farmers' order which rebuiked Quay and bossism, and also that the order did good work in Maryland. He makes no claim for the results achieved in New York or Onio, but calls attention to the news from In-

I tender the use of all the facilities of this department which may be of use for your inauguration and hope that you will freely avail yourself of them."

Carnegie Defends McKinley, WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 6 .- Andrew Carnegie, who is in the city on business with the Navy Department, yesterday discussed the Republican overthrow. He takes the position that it is the inevitable rebuke which comes to the dominant party in the middle of its success, a reaction that will be overcome in 1892. He defends the Administration, and speaks of President Harrison as "a growing man," who would develop surprising strength during the remainder of his term. He naturally defends the tariff bill strongly, and says McKinley's measure will vindicate itself before two years have passed. Carnegle asserts that Republican defeat was caused, not by the tariff question, but by fouds between Republican leaders. He asserts that Tuesday's work the Navy Department, yesterday discussed

ON THE STREET,

[The Post-Dispatch quotations are for lots in first hands unless stated otherwise. On orders higher.]
The soft, mild weather of the past few days has had a depressing effect on the game market, and to-day the condition of most of the arrivals was bad, quall and rabbits suffering the worst; we note a decline in the latter under heavy receipts, and alse in venison, and the market was generally demoralized on rabbits; etocks on hand of all kinds are generally liberal, while the demand both on local and outside order account is only fair. Fourtry was in better demand for choice, fresh strainth loss at a slight improvement in price, but held, or thin and scrabby stock was as dull and slow to move as ever; turkeys in best demand and higher. Veslis were in fair demand and better in price. There is nothing new to note is butter. Eggs steady, Apples continue seady, but in slower demand, owing to mild weather. Fotatoes were standy, and fairly active. Onion quiet, and buyers holding off. Cabbage lower on Northern. Celery on moderate sale-weather too warm. Home-grown vegetables in fair demand-to-matoes a little lower, but sweet polatoes stiff; all else about steady.

Apples—The warm weather is rather unfavorable to the market, as fruit is more liab e to ret, and on this account mostly buyers were holding off, and taking only the best grades of choice and faney. The low and medium grades were in poor demand and sales were mostly as concessions. We quote: Common at $1.75 mainly—such as slack-packed small, wormy, specked, etc.; fair to medium—such as senting—at $1.75@2.25; choice—winea ap. fancy geniting and medium Ben 1 avis at $2.25@2.75; incr., such as Vantewere, Huntsman, Ben Davis and 200, fancy geniting and medium Ben 1 avis at $2.25@2.75; incr., such as Vantewere, Huntsman, Ben Davis and 200, fancy geniting at $2.25, 100 do at $2.40, 15 mixed at $2.50, 20 Ben Davis at $3.10 do at $3.25.
Gradpes—No change to note in prices, but the demand showed an improvement, and sales were freez under the mild weather. We quote New York concords at 220, 25c per 9-10 banket. Sales: 1 car at 27/49; 1 at 230.

Cramberrics—Quiet, but steady. We quote: Cape Cod at $6.90 per bbl and $2.75.63.25 per bu box, and Wisconsin bell and cherry at $7.500 ber bbl—bell and burle.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—The wheat market closes strong at the top price of the day—$1.01\(\frac{1}{2}\) for Dec. The weak inciders appear to have entirely sold out, and many have sold Dec and bought May.
Cables are steadier and the Southwest complain of too long continuance of dry weather and express fears of cold weather doing injury to the wheat plant. This, with the loading of some winter wheat in barges at St. Louis for ahlipment to France caused a strong feeling and an anxiety to buy. There have been some purchase for investment, and the market has a more healthy tone. Better cables are expected. We expected this, and with them some further advance. The provision market ruled weak on heavy receipts of hose and some realizing by longs. In the absence of any good buying we predict a sharp break in prices of hose product. Barbara Lamprecht Cuts Her Daughter' Throat and Attempts Suicide. PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 6 .- One of the most horrible crimes which have been com-mitted in Philadelphia for many years was perpetrated early this morning in West Phila-delphia. A mother, undoubtedly crazy on religion, killed one of her children, attempted to murder another and then tried to end her to murder another and then tried to end her town life. Joseph Lamprecht and his wife, Barbara, had seven children, ranging in age from six months to cirity years. The husband and father is in the employ of the Philadelphi Traction Co. This morning Mrs. Lamprecht balled her husband to breakfast about 5 o'clock and after he had finished the meal he started for his work. He had bar iy left his home when his wife caught up a large butcher knife and brandishing it over her head, ran from one room to another, muttering incoherently and declaring that she wanted to go to heaven. Mary, her 6-year-old daughter, had come down stairs to bid her father good-bye and she was the first of the children whom the crazy mother saw. Catching the little one up in her arms, she forced the child's head back and then deliberately drew the knife across her throat. Then she dropped the little cone to the floor and made her way to the room occupied by herself and husband and in which her 6-months old babe was ying asleep in the bed. Players' League Meeting.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6 .- The meeting of the Players' League magnates which was called at the Continental Hotel this morning, to discuss the present base ball situation, was well represented. There were four representatives from Bostom—Ira B. Kirtland, Arthur Irwin, Charles Prince and J. B. Hart. From Pittsburg came Harry B. Rea and Ed Hanion. Philadelphia was represented by the Wagners and Editor Richter. The Chicago and Cleveland interests were looked after by proxy. Buffalo was also on the list. The meeting was called at the instigation of Secretary Brunnel and with the sanction of the six clubs outside of New York and Brook lyn. The reason for this was that New York and Brooklyn had sent letters to the other ciubs, stating that it was their intention to consolidate and that, comparatively speaking, the remaining six clubs must look out for themselves.

The meeting to-day was of a strictly private nature and was called for the purpose of deciding what action should be taken in the matter. cuss the present base ball situation, was well

In a talk with Editor Richter be said: "This is a pretty state of affairs. New York and Brooklyn evidently intend to leave the remaining six clubs out in the cold and then the New York and Brooklyn magnates are the New York and Brooklyn magnates are kicking because they were not invited to this conference. They have no business here. They have taken action without consultation and now it is left for the remaining six clubs to act. It is merely an informal gathering to consult. There may be no action taken to day, but the pians for the future will be laid. At the conclusion of the conference the result will be given out for publication."

Editor Richer then closed the door, pushed back the three bolts and resumed the conversation with the representatives.

THE RAILROADS.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC ACQUIRES A LEASE OF THE WISCONSIN CENTRAL.

Initial Move in the Northern Pacific and Baltimore & Ohio Alliance—Anxiety Over the Division of Missouri River Traffic for October—Tourists' Tickets Being Scalped

MILWAUKER, Wis., Nov. 6 .- The annual meeting of the Wisconsin Central Railway Co. was held yesterday and the following were elected directors; Edwin H. Abbott, Freder-ick Abbott, Howard Harris, Samuel B. Ains-of the Terminal Co. The net sur-plus of the Wisconsin Co. for the year ending June 30, 1830, is $29,682 and the net surplus on income of the Wisconsin Central Co. for the eight months ending June 30, 1890, is $85,813, exclusive of the receipts of the Land Depart-ment. The report proposes to the stockhold-ers the issuing of new debentures to pay for outstanding contracts for the purchase of roll-ing stock on which it has herefore paid rental, and says it should capitalize by fund-ing all the temperary loans bearing a high rate of interest.

The above telegram gives color to the story published in the Chicago Post Menday and eproduced in this paper Tuesday to the effect that the Northern Pacific and Baltimore & Ohlo roads had entered into an agreement for an exchange or business which practically amounted to an alliance. To carry out the scheme it was necessary for the roads to use the Wisconsin Central terminals in Chicago and for the Baltimore & Ohlo to construct a loop connecting its tracks with those of the Wisconsin Central. Under this arrangement cars could be hauled through from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean without change, and the lease the Northern Pacific has secured from the Wisconsin Central would seem to indicate that the scheme is to be carried out. If it is it will be one of the greatest railroad combinations in the country. that the Northern Pacific and Baltimore & for the action of the four arbitrators on divis for the action of the four arbitrators on division of October traffic from the Missouri River, says the Kansas City Journal. The Milwaukee and Santa Fe have just about finished the division of traffic on the September account. The Santa Fe is working to secure a larger percentage of the business and will ask that it be allowed to keep all that it has obtained. It is quite probable, however, that some of the other lines will get part of its freight awarded to them. The Rock Island is quite certain to get some of it. It is possible that the Chicago & Alton will have to hand over a tenth of its October business, though its wheat, which has swelled its tonnage considerably, goes largely to Carliaville, a non-compestive milling point on the Alton. The total east bound shipments from Southeastern Missouri river points for October were 12,855 cars, of which the Alton had 1,575, the Burlington 2,171, the Milwaukee, 1,211, the Rock Island 663, the Santa Fe 3,801, the Diagonal 477, the Wabash 940, the Missouri Pacific 1,186 and the Memphis, 811. There were 1,634 cars of wheat and 1,021 of other grains forwarded. Of these Alton had 215 and 180, the Milwaukee 124 and none, the Rock Island 88 and 37, the Santa Fe 511 and 22, the Diagonal 180, the Milwaukee 124 and none, the Kock Island 283, the Santa Fe 611 and 27, the Missouri Pacific 110 and 346, the Memphis 9 and 287. There were 4,448 cars of cattle aset forward, divided as follows: The Alton 441, the Burlington 685, the Milwaukee 725, the Rock Island 283, the Santa Fe 1,936, the Diagonal 3, the Wabash 119, the Missouri Pacific none, the Memphis 6. ion of October traffic from the Missouri River,

DIPHTHERIA OF THE EYE.

A Disease That May Affect the People of

From the Boston Herald. A disease known as diphtheria of the eye has lately shown itself in the vicinity of Bos ten. As yet it has not gained much headway, but eye specialists are on the lookout for such cases, in the hope that its progress may be effectually checked.

eases, in the hope that its progress may be effectually checked.

In conversation with a leading eye physician of this city a day or two since, it was found that the disease up to the present time has been a very rare one, but a very few cases being known to him in the past eight or nine years in this part of the country. These, however, have in nearly every instance, resulted in the loss of the eastire sight.

The disease, which is considered a very serious one, is peculiar to Germany, in the vicinity of Berlin, where many people have suffered from its effects. In nature it is precisely the same as throat diphtheria, and may be caused by coming in contact wish that disease, if the person's eyes have been at all sore or infiamed from any cause.

At the present time there is one case under treatment at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary en Charles etreet, this city, the patient being a little girl, but, as it is a comparatively new ease, hopes are enterfained that it may not result seriously, and that her present impaired sight may be restored.

The most difficult trouble encountered in the treatment of this disease by the specialist is to keep the unaffected member tightly bound and hooded, that it may not fraw the infiammation from the diseased eye to Itself, for, if this should happen, there would be scarcely any hope of the patient recovering.

As yet, there is no cause for extreme alarm, as most cautionary methods are being taken to reach these cases before they shall be imparted to ethers.

From she New York Sun.

The expression, "It will dry straight," is a potent filustration of the force and endurance and force of slang when it once starts on its travels. This expression is now referred to Pacific none, the Memphis 5.

Scalping Teurist Tickets.

The passenger situation is just now pacific, and all the roads say that they do not know of any irregular tickets being in the market here, says the Kansas City Journel. A report was started yesterday that the Rock Island had placed a block of tickets of the return coupon variety in the hands of one of the Union svenue brokers, but the officials of the road deay the statement, and there appears to be no evidence that it is so. The story that they are paying commissions—or premising to pay them at the end of the month—is also denied by both the iBurlington and Rock Island.

The disturbing factor just now is the winter tourist ticket. These tickets cannot be used in Chicago business as they are sold only to a limited territory in the South. Certain of them can be used, however, to soalp St. Louis travel, and it is claimed that they are being so used, though only to a limited extent, as they are expensive tickets to handle, requiring a heave rebate in St. Louis. In the latter city the coupen to New Orleans is at a conveniently long distance in the future the broker can take chances of selling it back. These round trip tickets are pretty near as great a menace to the stability of rates as the paying of commissions to brokers, and they offer another kneety problem for Chairman Finley to solve.

The Committee's First Meeting.

Form the Helens (Most), Independent.

From the Helens (Mont). Independent. Four little tame ducks have cost the count of Cascade about $8,000. On the 22d day of August, last year, James W. Gibbs and Frank August, last year, James W. Gibbs and Frank Gray went in a beat from Great Falls up the Missouri River to Sand Coulee. They had a gun along and were loaded for duck. Wild duck were rather scarce, however, so seeing four tame ones on the place of Neil Loburg, Gray shot them. Loburg came along and protested, whereupen Gray threatened to shoot him also. Complaint was made by the owner of the ducks and Gray was arrested and tried for the offense. On the trial Gibbs swore that he and Gray had been is Great Falls all day on Aug. 22, and that neither of them had been up the Missouri River. This evidence secured the acquittal of Gray, Gibbs was tried on the same charge and acquitted. But the trouble was not over. The Grand-jury, on Jan. 24 last, found as indictment against Gibbs for perjury, on account of his testimony on the Grav trial. The case came up May 7, and as Gibbs said he had no money to hire a lawyer, the Court appointed counsel to defend him. After a trial lasting several days Gibbs was found guilty. A metion for a new trial was made and overruled, and Gibbs was sentenced to seven years in the State Penitentiary and to pay the costs of prosecution. An appeal was taken to the Supreme Court, where Attorney-General Haskell mered to dismiss it. The Court yesterday did diamiss the appeal, and Gibbs must serve seven years at Deer Lodge. Gray went in a boat from Great Falls up the Dom Pedre at Versailles.

From the London Daily Telegraph. The ex-Emperor of Brazil is staying at Ver-sailles with the Comte and Comtesset d'En and other members of his family. It is possible that Dom Pedro may remain some little time that Dem Pedro may remain some listle time in the town of the Rie Seleil, where the Duc de Nemours and Princess Bianche d'Orleans have been sojourning for a portion of the summer, but nothing is definitely arranged as yet. From all accounts His hajesty is as devoted to study as ever, and it is affirmed that the first thing he does on rising in the moraling is to spend a couple of hours with a German professor in reading in turn Senseris, Hebrew, Arabic and Greek, Indeed, so ardent is Dom Pedro in the pursuit of information that his medical advisers are said to discourage his living in or near the metropolis for any langth of time, and it is not unitarily that he will proceed to Cannes for the winter.

MRS. MILLER IN COURT.

THE WIFE OF THE ALLEGED SWINDLING LONDON BANKER ARRAIGNED.

Charges Made Against Her by Devoy & Fenerborn, bole agents, 708 Pine street. John Henry Hogge, an Englishman-The "Co-operation Pool"-Deposition -The Testimony of Servants-De Sugene Breckmeyer and Miss Bertha

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 .- Mrs. Cornella V. Miller wife of the principal in an alleged banking firm of London, charged with swindling ope-rations, was arraigned before United States nissioner Shields yesterday and dis-red, and was immediately rearrested on a new charge. Mrs. Miller has been held for three weeks or more in the custedy of two Deputy Marshals, who have guarded her at the hotel. The specific charge was that she had received £7,000 belonging to John Henry the alleged swindling banking firm of J. H. Field & Co. of London. When Mrs. Miller was arraigned yesterday this charge was dismissed, and she was immediately arrested under a charge of receiving £28,000, which presents the amount Hogge and others de-sited with Field & Co. for "investment." Lawyer Marbury presented to the court official papers which had arrived from England, and on which the crown seal was plentifully ents were a number of depositions made y Mr. Hogge and others regarding

The circular gives a statement of the "profits" of the Co perative Pool and guaranteed each investor £4 12s and 24d, a net profit, payable at the of the character of the investment, but the circular assures the public that "no one ever lost a penny by investing in its shares." Lawyer Wim. F. How and J. J. Adams objected to the reading of the depositions and they were finally filed with the court as evidence, so that the prisoner's counsel could make whatever specific objections they saw fit after examining them. Mrs. Miller was accompanied by her little girl and two stylishly cressed lady friends. She looked bright and cheerful and took a deep interest in the proceedings, when the question of adjournment, was under consideration she spoke to Lawyer Howe and had him insist that the case should be set dewn for this afternoon at 2 o'clock, instead of on Friday as Lawyer Marbury wished. Mr. Hogge is a ship broker at Southampton and his affidavit states that he was induced by the personal solicitations of Wm. Wadsworth Miller, hosband of Mrs. Miller, to invest £2,600 in shares of miller, husband of Mrs. Miller, to invest £2,600 in shares of THE CO-OPERATIVE POOL.

He was to receive 70 per cent of all profits, payable at the end of leach month. His first month's "profits" were remitted to him, but the next month's profit was not forthcoming. He telegraphed to Fleid & Co. that he wished to have 405 shates redeemed on Sept. 27, and they replied teiling him for send his shares to them for the redemption. When he arrived in London two days later, he found shat Field & Co. had fied to parts unknown. Dora Dempsey states that she was employed by the firm and, with ethers, sent out daily 20,000 circulars. She had seen many sums of money come through the mail for investment in the pool. Detective Lawler investigated the sifairs of Field & Co. after the various members of the firm had fied. He avers that he was able to learn that Mrs. Miller was frequently intrusted with large jaums received by the firm for investment and that he was unable to find that it had been invested in any way with the exception of paying it out from the banks wherein it was deposited te Mrs. Miller in draft payable at sight in this city. Nurse maid Florence Hawley recounted in her deposition that pravious to Mrs. Miller's departure for this country on Sept. 21, the Fields and the Miller had a long consultation in the Montague Mansion. She heard them discussing the packing of a certain trunk. Mr. Miller displayed a large quantity of gold and a package of blue papers which she took to be money orders.

NOT AN ACTRESS.

A Publication Which Aroused The Wrath

of Two Feetlight Favorites. It was reported yesterday that on Monday light about the hour of midnight the private male and female voice in the room of a dished actress stopping at the hotel and on insisting upon being admitted to the room the watchman found that the lady of footlight fame had a man hid in the wardrobe in the room. Now there are only two actresses stopping at the hotel at the present time, Miss Rose Coghian and Miss Emily Righ, and both these ladies were most indigagat at the reflection which was cast on their character by the article. They hunted up Manager Lewis and demanded that they should be righted in the matter. Mr. Lewis admits that there was such an occurrence at the hotel as described in the newspaper, but says that the woman in the case was not an actress, but another guest of the botel. He sent the following to the newspapers to right the irate actresses, Miss Coghian and Miss Righ:

DRAR SIR—My attention has been called to an article headed 'In the Wrong Room'
The facts as stated were partially correct, but the statement that it was an actress is wholly and completely wrong. As I have only two actresses in the hotel, it is but justice to those ladies to make this statement.

H. C. Lawis,
Manager Southern Hotel.

The name of the woman who figured in the affair was furnished to friends of the two actresses who insisted on them being righted, and a demand was first made that in erder to clear the actresses of all suspicion that this name be published. Consideration for the guilty party, however, finally prevailed.

LOST BY THE CITY.

The Forfeiture Clause of a Bridge Contract Declared Inoperative.

Judge Thayer decided the suit of the King Bridge & Manufacturing Co. of Pitts-against the City of St. Louis yesterday, giving the plaintiff judgment for the full amount sued for, $21,627.73, thus being the unbalance due plaintiff for constructing superstructure of the Grand Avenue idge. The Street Commissioner had adered plaintiff the amount on final settlenat, less 56,200 deducted on account of the mpany's failure to complete the work thin ten months from the day notice was wen them to begin work, but the company faced to settle on these terms.
The A. Slegel Gas Fixture Co. have just added to their aplendidly diversified stock of gas and electric fixtures a fine assortment of parian goods, table oil lamps, candelabras, the steam plers ready for the ron work until a onth after the company relived notice to begin work, and Judge Theyer ruled that by this delay the city lost its right to enforce that provision of the confract requiring the company to forfeit so much per day after the expiration of the time allowed for completing the work. The delay in completing the stone work in time was the fault of another con-tractor.

MARRIED IN SECRET.

Branch Surprise Their Relatives. Eugene C. Brockmeyer, son of ex-Lieuter ant-Governor Breekmeyer, and Miss Bertha the Branch-Crooks Saw Co., secured a mar riage license from the Recorder of Deeds yes terday and are now husband and wife. The the Branch-Crooks Saw Co., secured a marriage license from the Recorder of Deeds yesterday and are now husband and wife. The marriage took place without the knowledge of the parents of either party, making it, if not an elopement, a secret marriage at least.

Mr. Eugene Brookmeyer is just 21 years of age, but is well advanced for his years, and is a bright, intelligent young man. He passed a very rigid examination in a general esssion of the Circuit Ceurt lest June, and was admitted as a member of the bar. He had studied in the St. Louis Law School, and besides an extensive acquaintance in the legal fraternity, he has a wide circle of acquaintances entside. He has not begun practicing law as yet, but is about to enter the office of a law firm in this city. He has a laways lived with his parents at 1466 Monroe street, where the family has lived for years.

Miss Bertha Branch is a pretty young lady, 20 years of age, and she also has a wide circle of friends who will be surprised to learn she has married so hastily and secretly. She lives with her parents at 3120 Franklin avenue, and left the house yesterday on the pretense of going down town to do some shopping. Mr. Brockmeyer on leaving his mother in the morning said he was going to secure a position in a law office and would return at 6 c'clock this evening with Miss Bertha, who has become almost one of the family, and has been treated, as such for several years. The young couple met down town about 10 c'clock, and accompanied by Attorney J. L. Hopkins they went to the Recorder's office. As Mr. Brockmeyer looks older than he really is neither he nor Miss Branch were questioned closely, and they had no troule in securing the ilcense. The trio left the office in search of a minister and found Dr. Marshall, 'fermerly pastor of the cliasgow Avenue Church, in his office at 1107 Olive street, who willingly made the couple man and wife.

Launching of the Novel Vessel at Baltimere

Delayed, BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 6 .- The launching of the steamer Howard Cassard yesterday was delayed because the vessel became stuck on the ways. Several thousand people were present to see the event and were obliged to go away disappointed. Miss Alloe Fryer, the daughter of the inventor, christened the boat. The Howard Cassard represents an daughter of the inventor, christened the boat. The Howard Cassard represents an attempt to revolutionize travel. The inventor believes she will make thirty-five miles an hour. Fifty thousand dollars will be spent on this boat as an experiment of the inventor's plans. She was not built from a model. but from Mr. Fryer's mathematical calculations. She is 222 feet in length over all, 206 feet between perpendiculars, 16 feet extreme breadth and is feet 4 inches extreme depth amidships. She draws eight feet of water forward and ten feet aft. Amidships she is formed by a semicircle with a radius of eight feet. The engine is directly on her keel. The shaft and condenser is 6 feet wide, 30 feet long and 15 inches high. Just over the condenser are the boilers, separated from every other part of the vessel. They have a heating surface of 105 square feet. The engine, which is of the compound type, has cylinders, respectively thirty by sixty by twenty-four inches stroke and a horse power of about one thousand six hundred, which can be increased by means of forced draught. The shaft is 97 feet long and 10½ inches in diameter with a propeller wheel, a feur bladed screw 9 feet inches in diameter with 15½ feet mean pitch, which can be increased or lessaned. The pilot-house is the only structure above the deck, and all the machinery, boilers, etc., are below the water line is 380 tons. She has water tight compartments. The state rooms will be built after the railroad sleeping car style, on each side of a hallway running through the rossel and closed in by pertieres. For those desiring more privacy, pretty screens with doors attached have been provided. Ship builders do not predict success, but the stockhelders have all confidence in the inventor's plans. The boat is built by Baltimore capital.

Interesting Facts About L. A. Robinson Who Died Suddenly in Breoklyn. HONESDALE, Pa., Nov. 6 .- L. A. Robinson, tho was found dead in his bed in Brooklyn, recently, was a retired millionaire tanner and nade most of his great fortune five miles from this place, where he owned and conducted for many years what was at one time the largest tannery in the world, Wayne County, Pennylvania, being then the leading county in sylvanis, being then the leading county in the union in the tanning industry. When the hemicok bark became exhausted hereabouts, Robinson abandoned his great tannery and left it to go to ruin, which was completed a few years ago by fire. The piace where he made his millions is now a wild and desolate spot evergrown thickly with underbrush and a retreat for wild animais. Robinson for years made his home at the St. Nicholas Hotel, New York, in the palmy days of that famous hesteiry. Twenty years er se ago he brought a suit against the proprietors of the hotel, which led to the passing of the present law of New York State, limiting the responsibility of hotel-keepers for the safety of property of their guests. Thieves entered Robinson's room and stole several thousand dollars in money and valuables. Robinson and the hotel proprietors to recover the value of the property. The case was carried to the court of last resort, and was decided in favor of Robinson. The present law, limiting the responsibility of hotel keepers, followed the decision in this case. Mr. Robinson left an estate valued at $7,000,000. Judge E. P. Strong of Starrucca, this county, himself a wealthy tanner and an uncle of the deceased, inherits $1,000,000 from the estate. The remainder is divided among seven other uncles.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 6 .- The Herald this norning prints an article exposing the sosalled "Union Medical Institute" of New bury, Vt., which, it is said, has sold diplomas for $50 aplece in the West, and upon whose catalogue are given the names of incompetent men as professors with fictilious degrees. The Herald says that the evidence of fraud against the promoters of the scheme is so great that the matter has been taken up by prominent gentlemen of the State and put in the hands of lawyers.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 .- Luther H. Carey, the nade an unsuccessful attempt to surpass sev day afternoon. He did not try to run 100 yards in 94s., as the Manhattans will not allow him to do this until the gust over his recent run at Princeton blows itself out, but he went for the 110-yard, 120-yard and 125yard records. Competent timers were on hand. Harry Pike of the Manhattan Athletic Club was starter. Carey asked that he be left Carter, the Amateur Athletic Union's handigot away from his mark. Carey firs ran several heats at 110 yards and succeeded in equaling the record of 11 1-5s held by C. H. Sherrell and Wendell Baker. In one of the heats the time was taken as 8s on two watches and 8 1-55 en one watch at the 80-yard mark. At 120 and 125 yards Carey could not equal the records. C. C. Hughes, Secretary of the Manhatta Athletic Club, has asked the Board of Managers of the Amateur/Athletic Union to reconsider the facts about the performance of Carey sider the facts about the performance of Carey at Princeton Oct. 18. The five athletes who make up the team of the Salford Harriers of Manchester, England, which has been giving joint games with the Manhattan Athletic Club, salled for England yesterday on the Germanic. The athletes' visit to this country was a failure, both from an athletic and a financial point of view. Their trip cost the Manhattan Athletic Club about $1,800.

Referring to Jim Corbett's explanation of his draw with Dave Campbell of Oregon, his draw with Dave Campbell of Oregon,

Macon writes:

The Corbett-Campbell draw battle has connected with it a little private history that is is net generally known to the sporting world, and the actual facts should make the Portland heavy-weight blush when reference is made to tue contest. Corbett was engaged at the Olympic Club in San Francisco as instructor, and wrote Campbell asking him to fight ten rounds or give an exhibition, fully in intending to put him out in either case. Jim had been living high and was in debt. The holidays were approaching and coin was needed badly. This, in connection with the club troubles, caused him to quit on the impulse of the moment and start for Portland.
A few hours before departing Corbett received a dispatch from Campbell, saying: "Do not come; I won't fight." Jim's mind was fully made up to take the trip and he went. On his arrival in Portland Campbell would enly consent to spar exhibitions in a variety theater.
Jim set about in a business way by challenging him through the daily press, and Campbell, being chaffed on all sides, agreed to meet Jim, providing the California boy would gre him the choice of the referce and make it a draw. Here was a pretty proposition to emanate from a fighter. Well, Corbett needed cash badly, and, being on Campbell's dunghill, accepted the terms, and McDonaid, a chum of the Oregon boy, as referce.
On the night of the contest Campbell sent for Jim to meet him at "Senator" Morgan's house, and once there the trio, Campbell, McDonaid and Corbett, entered a private room. "I understand you are going to cross me, Jim," said the Oregon man, "and I am determined to protect myself. I don't consider that I am a match for you, and I won't be beaten in my own town."

"What's up now?" said Jim. "Well, then, we won't spar," declared Dayes. Here was a nice situation. Over 2,000 people across the street stamping and whisting for the contest ants, and no show of satisfying them unless he signed that contract. "I tell you what I will do, Ca Macon writes: The Corbett-Campbell draw battle has nessed the Dempsey-Campbell fight, and remembering how Jack hit his opponent on the nose at a given time, picked the same spot and the third round as the time. When this time came Jim walked up and drove his left on Dave's probosis hard. For this breach he was compelled to apologize la the ring for fear that Dave would lay down and rob him of any share of the money. The contest was a farce, Jim dividing his time between slapping his opponent on the face and joking with the press representatives. The following week Jim went to work at Corto's Theater and for fourteen nights offered Campbell $100 to stand up four rounds. This proved Campbell's cowardice, and even his best friends deserted him. Last week's WORLD contains a brief account of how Campbell skipped out of this city to avoid Con Riordon, a -poor second-rater who would not dare meet Jim.

They Fight To-Night.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 .- Austin Gibbons and Mike Cushing will fight to-night for $2,000, the 126 pound championship of the world and a purse, the value of which will depend entirely upon how many men will succeed in getting the tip. Where these crack light weights will fight is almost as much of a mystery as the assault on Billy Patterson, but a select few who are willing to pay $85 to see the mill will probably be directed to the spot. Capt. A. W. Cock of Boston was named in the articles of agreement to select the ground and he notified the principals yeserday to meet him at a small town in New England this afternoon. A great many sporting men were locking around for information regarding the fight last night, but the only man who seemed to knew anything about the arrangements was Jack Adler, Cushing is backer, and he did not appear to be anxious to tell what he knew. Gibbons and his brother bought tickets for New London last night and departed on a late train. Cushing left on an earlier train, bound for Boston, but it could not be ascertained whether he purchased a through ticket ar intended stoopping off at an intermediate point. purse, the value of which will depend entirely train, bound for Bosson, but it could not be ascertained whether he purchased a through ticket ar intended stopping off at an intermediate point.

Ex-Umpire Kelly, who is the stakeholder, had not left town at midsight. "I have no idea where the fight will take place," he said to a reporter, "but I have been instructed to be in Providence by to-morrow atternoon. I think the men will fight somewhere in Connecticut. It is a sure thing that the men will not fight at the Gladstone Club in Providence, as was at first supposed. They will use skin gloyes and the contest may take place on the turf. The referee will be selected at the ring side, and although Al Smith and Jere Dunn have beth been asked to serve in that capacity, it is quite probable that a Boston man will act. In any event, it will be a great battle and the betting will undoubtedly be lively. Cushing is is the pink of condition and Gibbons has trained carefully."

Slavin's Advertising Bluff. Referring to Slavin's intended visit to this country to join a theatrical troups and the manager's statement that on the Australian's arrival he would challenge Sullivan to fight him for $10,000 a side, and if the American refuses to accept will claim the champion-ship, Macon makes the fellowing pertinent comments:

ship. Macon makes the fellowing pertinent comments:

"Slavin, by the way, seems to think that he will get off with a fine. for he has accepted the offer of a theatrical manager here and sends word that he will sail for this country in about a month, Perhaps he will, and, again, perhaps he may defer the date of departure from Merry England's shores. When the law, and especially English law, has its grip on you you can't just always exactly tell. His managers announce that on his arrival he will challenge Sullivan for $10,000 a side, and if Sullivan refuses to accept he will 'claim the championship of the world."

Being somewhat familiar with the modes of advertising of sunstional theatrical managers, I think I can appreciate the importance of this announcement at its full worth. The manager knows as well as that he is alive that Sullivan refused to fight Peter Jackson for any purse less than $25,000, and that it is not at all dikely that he would fight for a stake of $10,000. As the gamins say, this "challenge" is too disphanous. By the way, why don't Mr. Slavin get after Charley Mitchell and shake a fight at him before he leaves England. Charley discheding to have met and bested the Australian ir a turn-up, and it won't do for him to come here and make any championship cracks with that stigma resting on his record. Slavin is undoubtedly a great puglilst, but he is as yet two moves from the premiership, and before he can justly lay "claim" to the world's championship he will have to defeat Peter Jackson and John L. Sulivan. He may be equal to this dual task, but that remains to be seen. Jackson will be back in California in a month or six weets, and I am sure he will be perfectly willing to oblige Mr. Slavin with a fight on reasonable terms.

Hanlon Against Consolidation,

A telegram sent out from Pittsburg, Pa. ation there: Apparently the base ball men are getting farther away from consolidation or compromise. Manager Edward Hanlon of the local Players' League club arrived in town the local Players' League club arrivedin town to-day, dead set against any agreement whatever. He said that the Boston Players' club people were determined to keep together and nad determined to buy out the interests of members of the Players' League who wanted to quit the business, especially the New York parties. They had plenty of money and were willing to risk it in the cause. Mr. Hanlon told this story at a meeting of the stockholders of the Pittsburg club to-day and it was talked over. The majority came to the conclusion that it would be better to oppose consolidation. Several stockholders, among the number Messrs. Rea and Kerr, talked in favor of some sort of an agreement with the National League. It was decided to allow the matter to rest until the Players' League convention next week.

Comiskey and the Browns. Charley Comiskey, the captain of the Chicago Players' League team and former captain of the St. Louis Browns, who was av pected here Tuesday to confer with President Von der Ahe with reference to joining the Browns, did not reach here until yesterday. He held a conference with the St. Louis president and as a result of their talk will captain the Browns next season, providing he can get out of his three-year contract with the Chicage organization. They are said to be in arrears with him now in the matter of salary and if this is not made good or if the two arrears with him now in the matter of salary and if this is not made good or if the two Chicago teams consolidate, he will be free to come to St. Louis. Secretary George Munson, formerly of the Browns, but now also with the Chicago Players' team, will return to Mr. Von der Ahe if he can secure his release from the Windy City organization. Four or five of the members of the Chicago Players' Club will probably come to St. Louis if Comiskey returns here.

At present he is a member of only thirteen athletic clubs and president of but three.

Sporting Notes,

F. C. O'Reilly, who durchased Hanover for $15,500 at the sale of the Dwyer Bros.' horses on Tuesday, sold the horse vesterday to Milton Young for $20,000. Pitzlin now says he will again fight Arthur Upham for a purse of $1,000, of which the loser is to receive $200. He also says he has between $500 and $1,000 which he will bet on the outside that he defeats Upham. The Gaiveston Club wants Pitzlin to come down to $700, the purse it has offered.

Three or four bottles of this medicine entirely curved me and I have good for the son. Three or four bottles of this medicine entirely cured me, and I have not since—in more than two years—had a boil, pimple, or any other eruptive trouble. There still remains much to be said and both sides are getting ready to say it in the most emphatic manner. So far, the Holman side has had the best of it and the Worthington-Murphy side, who had depended so much on Col. Flad, was sadly disappointed when it was learned that Col. Flad intended to look into the matter further before speaking, as he had been misinformed as to the real condition of affairs. Horatio D. Water Commissioner Holman is at work getting the backing for his arguments into shape and they make a very formidable array of facts. Maj.
